

THEIR FACES AND THEIR FORTUNES.
READ THE BIG ARTICLE ON THE
HEIRESSSES OF NEW YORK
IN THE
Sunday World.
PRICE ONE CENT.

THE SUNDAY WORLD
NEW YORK, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1889.
PRICE ONE CENT.

A VERY FUNNY NEW FEATURE.
ENTITLED
OUR BOARDING-HOUSE.
OBSERVATIONS, CRITICAL AND OTHERWISE, INTENDED
FOR THE LANDLADY'S EARS.
SEE THE SUNDAY WORLD.
PRICE ONE CENT.

NO OBSTACLE NOW.
Central Park Will Not Be Used for the World's Fair.
The $5,000,000 Guarantee Fund Should Be Raised Quickly.
"The World" Canvassers Doing Great Work for the Exposition.

OUR JOSH ABROAD.
Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead" to Invade England.
Following Hard on Barnum's and Buffalo Bill's Successes.
Manager Comstock Going to London to Make All Arrangements.

GIVE US OUR BANDS.
Aldermen Urged to Repeal the Order Banishing Street Musicians.
Enjoyment of the Poor Curtailed to Gratify the Nervous Rich.
The Law Causes Great Hardship and Will Swell the City's Charity Lists.

IN A BRUTE'S POWER.
Shocking Tale of Abuse Told By a Young Irish Emigrant.
William Scott Compelled to Steal Under Threats of Death.
Imprisoned in a Room and Beaten By Dr. De Maine.

HOGAN'S HARD LOT.
Efforts to Get the Police Commissioners to Reinstall Him.
Fifteen Years' Good Record Before the Big Tie-Up.
He Took One Glass When Exhausted by Long Hours of Duty.

GOODLOE MAY RECOVER
And Kentucky's Political Tragedy Have But One Victim.
Doctors Think Swope's Bullet Missed a Vital Spot.
Goodloe's Knife Did Its Savage Work Thoroughly.

EXTRA
2 O'CLOCK.
MEAT TO KILL.

There was a general feeling of joy among the inhabitants of New York City, from Harlem to the Battery, when it became known that the Committee on Site and Buildings had definitely decided that Central Park was not to be used as a site for the World's Fair of 1892.
It is the opinion of all that the action of the Committee in thus refusing to include any portion of Central Park in the site has removed a great obstacle in the way of subscriptions to the $5,000,000 Guarantee Fund, and that the remaining $2,000,000 necessary to complete it will not be long in forthcoming.
There is a general feeling of joy among the inhabitants of New York City, from Harlem to the Battery, when it became known that the Committee on Site and Buildings had definitely decided that Central Park was not to be used as a site for the World's Fair of 1892.
It is the opinion of all that the action of the Committee in thus refusing to include any portion of Central Park in the site has removed a great obstacle in the way of subscriptions to the $5,000,000 Guarantee Fund, and that the remaining $2,000,000 necessary to complete it will not be long in forthcoming.

Alexander Comstock, of the Academy of Music, has just signed a contract with Denman Thompson by which the young manager obtains the sole right to present the now-famous pastoral in England.
Mr. Comstock will sail next week to make preliminary arrangements abroad, though for the time being he has been keeping the cable busy, and in May, after the close of the second season at the Academy of Music the full organization will go to London.
For seven months Mr. Comstock has been working at this idea, which has been carefully matured. "The Old Homestead" will probably be presented at the Drury Lane Theatre, which has been suggested as offering the largest opportunities.
The indefatigable Comstock has consulted the English population of New York City—more or less—upon the probable results of the "Old Homestead" production abroad. The general opinion is that it will be another success like "Our Boys," that ran for four years in London.

A storm of protest is howling about the ears of the Aldermen since the passage of the ordinance banishing the little German bands, the hand-organs, and the strolling singers and players from the curbstones of the metropolis.
The Mayor and the City Fathers listened to the complaints of a score or so of nervous, intolerant citizens, who claimed that the peace of mind of the city was being shattered by these musicians of the poor.
The municipal legislature thought that surely this was the voice of society. The voice of the people is the voice of God, and the ordinance was passed and signed by Mayor Grant.
But it transpires that the nervous complainers are as handful to the thousands who have enjoyed and patronized the street music, and as nothing to the horde of people whose sympathy and charity is greater than their selfishness.
The ordinance throws more than 4,000 persons out of employment at the very beginning of a long winter. And many hundreds of these are disabled for any other kind of work, for the poor blind man who creaks out a pitiful existence at your corner with a low-spirited organ, and the veteran with an empty sleeve and empty trousers-leg, were banished along with others.
Many of these poor people thus deprived of their accustomed means of earning a living must become a charge on the Department of Charity, for only the strong and hearty ones can go away out of town.

Detectors Mullen and Canavan, of the Oak street police station, went to the Home Lodging House at 104 Pearl street this morning and arrested Dr. Valta Maurice de Maine.
He is charged with robbing and horribly abusing William John Scott, an Irish immigrant, who came to this country only a month ago.
Scott, who is eighteen years old, walked into the Oak street station early this morning in a pitiable state. His eyes were staring wildly, and he glanced behind him constantly, as if fearing that something dreadful was about to befall him.
Under the reassuring words of the Sergeant he told a terrible story.
He said that upon his arrival at Castle Garden, a month ago, he had three or four dollars in money and a trunk full of clothes and books.
He was recommended to the Franklin House, on Pearl street near Madison, by Dr. Drum, the Emigrant Agent.
He went there and had been installed about a week when Dr. De Maine accosted him.
He asked Scott how long he had been in the country, and on being told remarked that it was a great pity to make money but that one must have capital to start with.
He told Scott wonderful tales of how he had made money on small capital and soon gained the confidence of the doctor.

The case of Policeman Matthew Hogan, who was dismissed from the force for taking one drink and being two days continuously on duty and whose dismissal was pronounced "unjust, cruel and ruthless" by Supreme Court Judge Barrett, has caused a great deal of sympathy to be evinced for the unfortunate officer.
Many are interesting themselves in his case and are striving hard to have the Board of Police Commissioners reinstate him.
It is said, however, that the Police Board will not reappoint Hogan for the present, as Commissioners Voorhis and MacLean have declared their intention of standing by the original decision of the Board.
Hogan was dismissed because he was drunk from a glass of brandy and milk, which he took to stimulate exhausted nature, after having been on duty more or less constantly for nearly forty-eight hours.
Hogan is an Irish-American, forty-four years old. He is a married man. He was appointed on the force Sept. 20, 1873, and was dismissed March 22 last.
His record on the force was good. In all the years he was a policeman he had but seven charges preferred against him, and they were all minor offenses.
At his trial on Feb. 21, 1889, Sergeant William J. Norton, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, testified that Hogan, with a squad of police from the Twenty-sixth Precinct, was on duty at the Sixth Avenue Railway station at the time of the offense.
About 1 o'clock an order came from Inspector Stearns to send the reserve to take out several cars and man the cars with policemen.
The Sergeant called out the reserve and found that Hogan was drunk and was unable to articulate distinctly; his eyes were closed and he was unable to stand.

At midnight the doctors were watching Col. Goodloe's condition carefully. They did not dare to probe for the bullet, but expressed the belief that it had not entered the intestines.
They rely on the Colonel's robust constitution to pull him through.
The affray between the two men in the post-office room was a fierce one, but brief.
Goodloe, a condition of view; both were magnificent specimens of manhood.
The two men were nearly equally matched from a physical point of view; both were well built, his complexion and hair dark, his eyes rather small and too only slightly strong.
Col. Swope received thirteen wounds from Col. Goodloe's knife, several of which were of a nature to have proved fatal alone.
The men were the rival Republican leaders of the State, and had alternated in success.
Goodloe, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, was a member of the last Chicago Convention, was at the time of the trouble the one on top. He is a member of the Republican National Committee.
The personal enmity of the two men was long standing and bitter.
An attempt was made to heal the breach last Summer when the Republican State Convention nominated Col. Swope for State Treasurer, but the effect was the opposite to what was expected. Col. Swope declined the honor and took exception to a speech made by Col. Goodloe.
The two men met at the Plumer Hotel, in this city, a few days later and were about to fight when friends separated them.
Their next meeting was the fatal one of yesterday.

EXTRA
2 O'CLOCK.
MEAT TO KILL.
A Sandbag Blow in the Dark for a State Witness in the Cronin Trial.
Mrs. Morgan, the Victim, Lying in a Critical Condition at Her Home.
Her Assailant Was a Man Disguised in Woman's Apparel.
Her Life Saved by Her Heavy Roll of Hair.

Grand total $2,739,343

The work of The World's canvassers goes bravely on, and the following showing of the following brilliant record:

Previously acknowledged $113,763

Edward Schott, cigars and tobacco, 500

John W. Swope, cigars, 1881 Lexington ave., 500

Reister & Schmidt, butchers, 1881 Lexington ave., 500

Dr. Chapman, 161 East 116th st., 500

A. & D. Davis, cigar manufacturers, 244 3d ave., 500

John W. Swope, cigars, 1881 Lexington ave., 500

Charles C. Moykel, policeman, 223 East 117th st., 100

Benjamin Brady, heavy stable, No. 116 West 28th st., 250

Anderbach & Bloch, butchers, 1834 Park ave., 250

A. Schroeder, cigars and tobacco, 2323 4th ave., 1,000

Paul Weber, M. D., Druggist, 1889 Lexington ave., 1,000

Frederick Boesberg, grocer, 1889 Lexington ave., 1,000

J. J. Henning, meat market, 1885 3d ave., 500

H. Riekers, grocer, 2022 3d ave., 500

Chas. H. Trautz, Judge Superior Court, 500

James Owens, Jr., No. 287 East 30th st., 200

Thomas J. Weir, No. 2307 8th ave., 100

John Selsam, No. 440 Pleasant ave., 100

Charles A. Berr, No. 309 Pleasant ave., 100

E. P. Francis, No. 130 East 79th st., 100

Amos J. Minot, No. 2051 1st ave., 100

J. Gell, No. 363 Pleasant ave., 100

John Geyer, butcher, No. 456 East 116th st., 50

Wm. Haves, M. D., No. 143 Lexington ave., 50

H. J. Garrigue, M. D., No. 135 Lexington ave., 20

Total $123,753

Many subscriptions were received too late for publication yesterday. They are as follows:

The Barber Bros. Co., 100 East 100th st., 10,000

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

Chase & Brown, 2,500

SET FIRE TO HIS FORMER HOME.
John S. Brooks, a Self-Confessed Incendiary, Makes Two Attempts at Arson.
John S. Brooks, a once wealthy stove manufacturer, of 159 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, is awaiting trial in Raymond Street Jail on the charge of arson.
Principal W. R. Stamm, of the Berkeley place school, saw Brooks come out of the basement of the unoccupied house, 100 Berkeley place, yesterday morning and soon after noticed smoke issuing from the windows.
Brooks ran into the building and extinguished the flames which were issuing from a pile of wood and rubbish on the basement floor. Half an hour later he saw another fire in the same place and he again ran into the building and extinguished the flames.
Brooks was standing on the corner when Mr. Stamm came out the second time, and the latter had him arrested.
Stamm pointed out his guilt, and said the house formerly belonged to him and that he had given it to his wife, who deserted him a year ago, taking with her a young child, a boy of fifteen years.
He was passing the house, he said, and was struck with a desire to burn it, and but for Stamm's prompt action would have succeeded.
Brooks has been out of work of late and has been drinking heavily.

IT MAY RISE ANEW.
Next Tuesday's Meeting of the County Democracy a Critical One.
It was rumored to-day that next Tuesday's meeting of the County Democracy is to be its last.
For two years the organization has been led to defeat by Police Justice Power, and the rampant left after the daughter is said to be crying for new leader, a new name and a new reason for existence.
The foundation on which the new organization will be built, it is asserted, will be undying hatred of and opposition to Tammany Hall, with an anti-Republican cornerstone which will prevent in future such conditions as that of the campaign last week.
The meeting is expected to be a particularly exciting one, and some sharp words it is thought will be exchanged.
Ex-Mayor Wm. H. Grace is credited with a desire to be the new "Mr. X," who will control the anti-Tammany organization into the promised land of patronage and office.
As Mr. Grace was the leading spirit in the formation of the recent alliance with the Republicans which resulted so disastrously to the County, there is much opposition to him among the local leaders.
County Democrats, who are so uncompromising in their opposition to Tammany Hall that they would not affiliate with the latter organization under any consideration, are looking in vain for a leader in the subject of reorganization of the defeated Democratic faction; they feel that enough to indicate that he will probably fall on Police Commissioner John H. Corbin.
Commissioner Voorhis's bold stand against the democratic and his uncompromising Democracy have endeared him to them, and if he will allow the use of his name, it is said, he will promptly be placed at the head of the Tammany opposition.
At the same time the anti-Tammany faction is thoroughly aroused by the action of the County Democracy in its last meeting.

ALIMONY FOR MRS. FLACK.
First Stage of the Divorce Suit Decided Against the Sheriff.
An order has been filed by Judge Andrews in the Supreme Court directing Sheriff Flack to pay $30 a week alimony to his wife and $500 counsel fees to Lawyer Treadwell Cleveland pending a decision in Mrs. Flack's suit for absolute divorce.
Lawyer Cleveland has filed affidavits by himself and Mrs. Flack denying in almost every detail the sworn statements of Sheriff Flack and his son William, which were printed in THE EVENING WORLD last week.
Mrs. Flack directly contradicts her son's statements regarding the transfer of the house on Fifty-seventh street and the assignments of life insurance policies. She also repeats the details of the fraud by which her signature was obtained to the application for divorce, and declares that she refused to see her son when he came to her.
HUSTED THE NEXT SPEAKER.
Says Platt is Willing, and That He Has 55 Republican Assemblymen.
Gen. James W. Husted is confident of being the next speaker of the Assembly, and it will be the sixth time he has been elevated to that exalted position.
The General says he has no need to gloat about the State looking after fences, for Tom Platt assures him that there's not a break in them anywhere. Besides Gen. Husted says he has no need to gloat about the State looking after fences, for Tom Platt assures him that there's not a break in them anywhere. Besides Gen. Husted says he has no need to gloat about the State looking after fences, for Tom Platt assures him that there's not a break in them anywhere.

ANXIOUS TO JOIN THE POLICE.
A Young Irish Giant Seeks Appointment Immediately Upon Landing.
Among the arrivals at Castle Garden this morning was a stalwart, athletic young Irishman, Michael Daly, by name, whose towering proportions and superb physique attracted admiring glances from all beholders.
Michael had come to the land of the free to seek his fortune. He had no fixed plans, and the suggestion of a bystander that he would make a fine policeman struck him favorably.
"What pay have the constabulary here?" he asked.
When told that it was $100 a month, he remarked that he had never earned over $20 a month in his life, and made a bee line for Headquarters.
CHAMPAGNE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW.
These Were the Elements that Destroyed Mr. Valdes's Domestic Happiness.
Mrs. Candido F. Valdes's suit against her husband for a limited divorce came up again in the Brooklyn City Court to-day. In his testimony Mr. Valdes denied that he has ill-treated his wife, but admitted that her fondness for champagne had made trouble between them.
The couple were attendants at Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle, the lady having been a teacher in the Sunday-school. Mr. Valdes alleges that when she was at the Tabernacle, she was served with champagne, and that she was so intoxicated that she was unable to perform her duties as a teacher. He also alleges that she was so intoxicated that she was unable to perform her duties as a teacher.

DESERATE DASH FOR FREEDOM.
Fifteen Texas Convicts Make a Bold Break, One Killed and Three Wounded.
HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 9.—One of the most desperate and daring attempts at escape on record at Huntsville Penitentiary was made by fifteen convicts last night.
The men overpowered one of the guards and held him in front of them as a shield, to prevent the other guards from firing upon them.
They then advanced to the wall, where, by the aid of ladders, several of them succeeded in reaching the top; but by this time the guard had broken away from the convicts and the other convicts were shot and killed. The shooting instantly and wounding three others.
The rest then surrendered, excepting one man who was shot dead outside, but was captured a few minutes later.
Higher Tax Rates for Brooklyn.
Brooklyn's Board of Supervisors announce the tax rate of that city for the current year, at an average of $29.48, or $1,000. Ward Nine has the highest rate, $30.23, and Ward Eight the lowest, or $27.80. The average increase over last year is $2 per $1,000.
Blaze in Judge Stecker's House.
Fire broke out in the dining-room of Judge Alfred Stecker's house, 34 East Seventh street, on Wednesday night, and did $200 damage. It was caused by an overheated fire.

ACCUSED BY AN ATTORNEY.
Florence Says a Port Jervis Lawyer Attempted to Entice Her Room.
PORT JERVIS, Nov. 9.—This town is all agog this morning over a most exciting event which occurred at about midnight last night, at the Fowler House, where the Florence Hastings theatrical company has been stopping during its stay in this village.
At the hour mentioned the inmates of the hotel were awakened by cries for help, coming from the room of the leading lady of the company.
The entire household crowded about the room and were awakened by cries for help, coming from the room of the leading lady of the company.
The entire household crowded about the room and were awakened by cries for help, coming from the room of the leading lady of the company.
The entire household crowded about the room and were awakened by cries for help, coming from the room of the leading lady of the company.

BILL NYE
on
Woman Suffrage.
The Idea Contest.
Another Instalment of Interesting Suggestions.
READ THE SUNDAY WORLD.

OUR BOARDING-HOUSE!
A New Feature. Sure to Make a Hit.
THE CURTAIN ROLL.
THE HEIRESSSES OF NEW YORK,
Their Faces and Their Fortunes.

NELLIE BLY'S
Seven Hundred
Doctors.
SCRUTATOR'S
Seven Ages of Woman.
WILSON BARRETT'S
Dramatic Leader
The Funny Page,
The Children's Page,
The Woman's Page,
The Story Page,
&c., &c., &c.